JUNE 2025

What's New at CESI?

It is definitely summer in the Netherlands. Many of us will be traveling for work or vacation over the coming months, and the EUR side is busy with ACM e-Energy 17-20 June. Please don't hesitate to reach out to us if you need help with research or writing that proposal. From ideation to writing, we are here to help you. We also offer assistance with research activities and developing workshop presentations.

Workshop on Inclusion for a Just and Fair Energy Transition

The 7th CESI workshop was on June 5th at Erasmus University Rotterdam. Involving people in the energy transition through co-design with communities, problem identification, and stigmatization were explored in three projects. We also had a demonstration of the newly-developed platform EnergySHR, a data sharing platform for energy-related datasets, algorithms, and models
